

Interested In Participating In Research? We Are Looking For Children AGES 8-17 Years Old To Participate In A Research Study!

- Researchers at the University of Calgary are looking for assistance with a research project to help to better understand children with ADHD.
- We are looking for children with and without ADHD and their parents to participate in our study.
- The purpose is to help us understand factors that impact well-being such as strengths, stigma, and resilience.
- Parents will be asked to complete online surveys while children will meet one-on-one with a researcher over zoom to work through cognitive, social and emotional measures.
- Families will receive a $25 e-gift card for participating.
- Participation is voluntary and confidential and you may withdraw at any time.

This study has been approved by the Conjoint Faculties Research Ethics Board at the University of Calgary (REB17-1602).
